Next steps...

The Eugénio de Almeida Foundation, as part of the C. Roads project and as the coordinating body, is organising the 'Social Innovation for Climate Justice' conference on 14 November.

This conference, which is open to the general public, aims to share the results of the C. Roads project, namely the educational tools created for this purpose, as well as fostering dialogue between the community on the subject of climate change, thus promoting a greater commitment to climate justice.

Check out the programme on the next page and join us at the Eugénio de Almeida Foundation Auditorium (Évora) on November 14!

For more information and to register, see www.fea.pt.

As a Reminder... What is the C.ROADS PROJECT?

The C-ROADS Project: Advocating for climate change and justice through participatory skills building is funded by the ERASMUS+ Programme and aims to raise awareness among different audiences about the impact of climate change and the promotion of climate justice

Through participatory research methods, the project aims to develop and make available new formal and informal learning methods to promote committed community participation in these purposes.
